PROJECT DESCRIPTION

New to the Milwaukee area, the new owners purchased this Brookfield home with intentions to update the from top to bottom.

The kitchen was redesigned to fit the lifestyle of the new homeowners. Eliminating the kitchen soffits provided for an open and airy space. The combination of frosty white cabinets and black opalescence granite countertops worked well against the warm wood floors. Stainless steel appliances, a custom wood hood, paneled front refrigerator and dishwasher, and classic white tile added an updated look to this gourmet kitchen. The multi level island with detailed columns and wainscot paneling anchor this gathering spot for family and friends. The oak woodwork was painted white and contrasted nicely against the freshly painted walls.

Wainscot paneling was added to the dining room and front entry to add formality to this pristine saltbox. Details abound to add interest to this renovated house.
